

EcoFabulous in the East End

Celebrate all things ECO in the East End, in fabulous style, on Saturday, June 20, 2009, at the renowned Wölffer Estate Vineyard, with a special tribute honoring the memory and extraordinary life of Christian Wölffer. This year's Group for the East End benefit will highlight the local produce, products and production of the East End through a farm-to-table approach with the farmers, growers and chefs who utilize and promote our fabulous East End bounty. Join local celebrities and celebrity chefs as they cook-off during cocktails then move into a chef-prepared three-course dinner featuring phenomenal food from farms in the East End. Our exciting array of green-focused auction items will encourage guests to give green to go green.

We invite you to enjoy EcoFabulous in the East End...shades of green festivities, fare and fundraising.

GROUP

FOR THE EAST END

EcoFabulous in the East End

We protect and restore the environment of Eastern Long Island through education, citizen action and professional advocacy. We inspire people to embrace a conservation ethic.

For nearly 40 years, Group for the East End has served as eastern Long Island's full-time professional advocate for conservation. The Group is widely recognized and respected for its work to protect the East End environment by advancing realistic solutions to complex environmental problems, mobilizing informed public support for conservation, educating future environmental leaders, and challenging irresponsible development that threatens the health of our local environment and the rural character of our community.

The Group is supported by thousands of local individuals, families, foundations and businesses that share our commitment to a sustainable future and give us the privilege of working to protect one of the most beautiful and fragile landscapes in the United States.
