FORMER NEW YORK MAYOR, Rudolph W. Giuliani and his wife Judith S. Giuliani are the quintessential New York power couple. More than merely serving as charismatic leaders, they make a profound difference to the fabric of urban life and the lives of New Yorkers on a daily basis.

Whether it is serving on the board of charities with worthwhile goals, sponsoring fundraisers for other organisations, speaking or serving in a motivational capacity, their involvement has a multiplier effect. The Giulianis simply sell tickets and inspire further charitable good deeds.

Mrs Giuliani is very much a force in her own right. She was honoured by the New York Junior League for her work with Changing Our World, Inc and is a founding member of the Board of Trustees of the Twin Towers Fund which raised and distributed US$216 million to over 600 families/individuals. She is also executive director of the Campaign for Saint Vincent Catholic Medical Centers in New York.

The couple recently attended a benefit to support Tuesday's Children where their commitment to New York was lauded by the charitable organisation's founder:

"Four years ago, Mayor Giuliani made a promise that he would stand behind the families of 9/11," said Chris Burke, president and founder of Tuesday's Children Foundation, who presented Mayor Giuliani and the New York Mets with the Tuesday's Children Leadership Awards for 2005.

"He has never wavered in that commitment. For the families of 9/11, and indeed the world, Mayor Giuliani has become a symbol of strength and hope. Like our families, he knows that healing comes with time and through persistence and determination. Today, in large measure because of his leadership, New York City is stronger than ever and our 9/11 families are on the road to recovery."

Mayor Giuliani said, "Nothing can ever completely fill the void in our hearts created by 9/11. As a nation and as a city, we can rebuild with bricks and mortar. But for those who lost loved ones that day, rebuilding lives is a much more difficult task. And that's why Tuesday's Children is so important. Its programmes provide strength, guidance and a clear path to a happier future for thousands of families. And while I am very proud to receive this Leadership Award tonight, I am still humbled at the strength, resilience and faith of so many who lost so much that terrible day four years ago."

I salute Mr. Giuliani not just for serving as a charismatic and inspirational leader or for rescuing New York City twice but also for paying attention to details and for continuing to give back to the community when it would have been far easier to rest and enjoy the comfort zone from the income generated by his consulting firm, Giuliani Partners provides.

New York is my home town. My respect for Rudy Giuliani is rather personal. The soul of the man is evident in all he does. If that is not confirmation enough, all you need do is get up close and personal, shake his hand and look into his eyes. The qualities of a loving but fearless leader are ever present.
